al productions. Aside from the national tours of CHICAGO and GIGI, Mr. Stuart is a proud 25-year veteran as character actor in residence at Derby Dinner Playhouse in the Louisville metropolitan area and is a resident of New Albany, IN.

"THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MARK" was adapted from the works and words of Twain in order to delve deeper into the psychology of "the Lincoln of our Literature" as Hemingway referred to him. In Act One, Twain the celebrated author is presented in full splendor while in Act Two, out of the limelight and in isolation, Samuel Clemens is revealed as he puts together his Autobiography.

"THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MARK" marks the third in a series of performances presented by Nettle Creek Players which has recently returned to downtown Hagerstown. For tickets and info visit www.nettlecreekplayers.com and Facebook/NettleCreek-Players or call 765-212-8127.

LHS senior earns local STEM scholarship

Lincoln senior Kylei Klein accepted a STEM scholarship from the Eastern Indiana Gem and Geological Society at the annual Richmond Gem and Mineral Show, March 6. Once she accepted the award, Klein was congratulated by EIGGS president Mark Lisota, scholarship chairperson Charlene Reidenbach, and parents Rodney and Kelly Klein.

Lincoln High School senior Kylei Klein is the recipient of the 2017 STEM scholarship presented by the Eastern Indiana Gem and Geological Society of Richmond, IN. The award was presented at the annual Richmond Gem and Mineral Show, Sunday, March 6.

Klein plans to use the $500 scholarship to pay for expenses at Purdue University where she will study animal science and agriculture education. "My love for agriculture, animal science and education has molded me into the person I am today, and my dream includes being able to educate others on just a fraction of all the amazing aspects that the science field has to offer," Klein said.

The annual award is open to seniors at all Wayne County high schools, as well as National Trail High School, who plan to pursue careers in the STEM fields of science, technology, engineering or math. Students have to have GPAs of 3.0 or higher and a strong record of extracurricular involvement and community service.

In May Kylei will graduate at the top of her class with an Indiana Academic Honors diploma and a Technical Honors diploma.

Klein balanced her academic performance with a full set of extracurricular activities, including 4-H, FFA, National Honor Society, Student Council, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Business Professionals of America, Key Club, Jazz Band, Choir, and the Math Academic team.

Through these activities and others, she has had the chance to perform numerous hours of community service and has also had the chance to compete at the regional, state and national levels. As a BPA member she was a national finalist. She was also a national finalist for her proposal for world hunger at the Global Youth Institute sponsored by the World Food Prize. As a 4-H member she has been a county and state exhibitor in dairy, dairy steers, sheep, swine, goats and rabbits. She was also chosen to attend the Indiana Dairy Academy to increase her knowledge of the dairy industry.

In addition to academic and extracurricular activities, Klein participates in multiple sports. She was named a Top Scholar Athlete in four varsity sports: volleyball, basketball, tennis and track. Her Spanish teacher, Rachel Hall, noted, "Kylei has been an invaluable member of many clubs and sports teams in and out of school. Her peers, coaches, and teachers know with certainty the Kylei will plan, prepare, and execute any task with vigor, creativity, and quality. In winning or losing, she is gracious, humble, polite and encouraging to others."
